

ASEN 1969 - Spring 2022 Instructor and Student Expectations

I understand that Pathway to Space is designed to fully engage me so that I might find my own path to a future in space. I understand that shifting this course from a live, in person classroom experience to a live, online classroom experience will be different. However, I agree with and will adhere to the Course Expectations below for the collective benefit of myself and my fellow students, the teaching faculty and assistants, and the guests of Pathway to Space.

What I can expect from Chris...

1. Chris cares about me and what I learn in this course.
2. Chris will bring the same level of energy and enthusiasm to teaching me about space online as he does with students in person.
3. Chris will assign the same level of work for this course as when it is held in person.
4. I will have the same level of access (office hours and email) to Chris and his Course Assistants as if I were taking this course in person.
5. Chris will grade me the same way as if I were taking the course in person.
6. Chris will hold me accountable to the same standards in this course as every student who has taken in before me.
7. Chris's level of flexibility and accommodation with my participation in this course will be the same as if it were held in person.

What Chris expects from me...

1. I will always remember the goal for me while in this course - To seek to discover my own unique pathway to space.
2. I will be fully present (webcam on is highly encouraged) while in the classroom by disconnecting myself from the outside world and removing all distractions.
3. I will value our guests' time and experience by giving them my full attention.
4. I know that my voice matters and my input will be heard by Chris.
5. I will respect the perspectives of my classmates, guests, CAs and Chris.
6. I will embrace my Aha! Moments and share them with Chris.
7. I will explore and engage with all aspects of this course, even the unconventional ones.
8. I will take care of my heart, soul, mind and body the best that I can and if I struggle to do so, I will reach out for help.

Together, Chris and I, will work to meet these expectations for each other and make the best of our current situation.
